South Wales Fire & Rescue Service

Deliberate Fire Setting

During the summer months we encountered a sharp increase in the number of deliberately set fires across the Newport area. Between July and September there was an increase in reported deliberate refuse fires of around 14% in comparison to 2015.

During this increase in activity South Wales Fire & Rescue Service crews came under attack from a small minority of individuals intent on causing distress to their communities and Firefighters. In order to mitigate the effect on our crews and the community we reached out to our established networks within the area and through participation in Consultation and Support Action Meetings (CASAM) we were able to create an action plan in conjunction with Police, Newport City Homes, ASB practitioners and Positive Futures to reduce the negative activities within the area. Following the delivery of planned and co-ordinated activities, including The Road to Rio Van, Fire Service door to door visits and increased PCSO patrols there were no further attacks on fire crews and the number of incidents were reduced dramatically.

Operation Bang

Historically the period over Halloween and Bonfire night has been a busy time for all blue light responders across Newport. In order to prepare for this period and reduce the number of incidents, all relevant agencies have come together and created the ASB Operational Group. This group meets on a regular basis and planned a suite of activities and events to create diversionary activities for young people on Halloween and the weekend covering Bonfire night.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the contributing agencies that worked tirelessly over the Operation Bang Period to reduce risk within our community. The strength of our collaboration and the hard work of the team at Positive Futures who delivered most of the various sporting sessions allowed us to control and reduce the number of incidents and mobilisations across the Operation Bang Period.
